

Author: adrians

The top ten quirky places to see on the London Underground.

1. Birthplace of the Underground, *Paddington Station

Birthplace of the London Underground - Paddington Station.

Notes:

2. Down Street Station, *Down Street, Mayfair

The disused station that is still on the Piccadilly line.

Notes:

3. Elephant and Castle hauntings, *Elephant and Castle Station

Strange haunting noises have been heard from the station.

Notes:

4. Museum Ghost Station, *Bury Place, Bloomsbury, London

The disused ghost station prevalent in many films & books.

Notes:

5. A River Runs Through It, *Sloane Square, London

This tube station has the River Westbourne run through it.

Notes:

6. Anthony Hopkins Odd Coincidence, *Leicester Square Tube station, London

The scene of Anthony Hopkins bizarre coincidence story.

Notes:

7. Spiral Escalator, *Holloway Road, Islington

The first and last spiral staircase in England.

Notes:

8. WWII and Goodge Street, *Tottenham Court Road

A super-deep 1940s shelter was located here

Notes:

9. A Long Way Down, *Upper Street, Islington

Angel Station - the longest escalator in Western Europe

Notes:

10. Pigeons on the Line, *West Ham Tube Station

It's official, Pigeons use the underground!

Notes: