

Author: HCS Shannon

A "Graphic" tour of London

1. Willie Rushton was born here, Cromwell Road, Earl's Court

'Willie Rushton', cartoonist, satirist, comedian...was born here

Notes:

2. A unique Victorian Townhouse, 18 Stafford Terrace

Home to the cartoonist Edward Linley Sambourne.

Notes:

3. Artist Walter Sickert lived here, 6 Mornington Crescent, Camden, London

The home of Walter Sickert artist of sleazy Camden.

Notes:

4. The Sketch Club, 7 Dilke Street, Chelsea, London

One of the oldest drawing clubs in Britain.

Notes:

5. Artist James Barry died here, 36 Castle Street, Oxford Street, London

The place where Irish painter James Barry lived and died.

Notes:

6. Ardizzone's home of Inspiration, 130 Elgin Avenue, Westminster

Home to a great artist and creator of a chap called 'Tim'

Notes:

7. Home to a Classic Animated TV, Festing Road, Putney

As if by magic, the Shopkeeper appeared...

Notes:

8. Thomas Rowlandson's studio, 16 John Adam Street, Adelphi, London

Satirical artist Thomas Rowlandson lived and worked here.

Notes:

9. Art with a Global Perspective, 2a Fortis Green

1st gallery in the UK to specialise in Indian contemporary art

Notes:

10. Saucy Postcarder McGill's House, 5 Bennett Park, Blackheath, London

Britain's best loved saucy postcard artist lived here.

Notes:

11. Grub Street, Milton Street, London

Here subversive press hacks and literary louts loved and worked.

Notes:

12. King of Gadgets lived+died here, 25 Southwood Avenue, Highgate, London

This is where cartoonist William Heath Robinson lived and died.

Notes:

13. Cartoonist Phil May lived here, 20 Holland Park Road

Punch illustrator and cartoonist Phil May lived here.

Notes:

14. Punch Tavern, 95 Fleet Street

A meeting place for Punch, the satirical magazine

Notes: