

Author: adrians

Some of the greatest explorers hailed from London. Let's see some of the places that inspired them.

1. Captain James Cook, 88 Mile End Road, Mile End

This site was once the home of British Explorer James Cook

Notes:

2. Ernest Shackleton lived here, Aberdeen House, 12 Westwood Hill, Sydenham, Lond

The great Antarctic Explorer lived here for a time.

Notes:

3. Explorer Stuart lived here, 9 Campden Hill Square, London

Scottish cross-Australia explorer John McDouall Stuart.

Notes:

4. Joseph-Rene Bellot's Obelisk, Riverside Walk, Greenwich, London

This is the obelisk to the French Arctic Explorer.

Notes:

5. Livingstone I Presume?, 1 Savile Row

Great colonial explorer Dr Livingstone lie in state here.

Notes:

6. Robert Falcon Scott lived here, 56 Oakley Street, Chelsea, London

The house where Antarctic explorer Robert Falcon Scott lived.

Notes:

7. Sir Richard Burtons Bedouin Tomb, St Mary Magdalen's RC Church, 61 Worple Way, Mor

The brilliant Bedouin mausoleum for Richard Burton and wife.

Notes:

8. St Margarets and Captain Cook, Abbey Road, Barking

This is where Captain James Cook was married.

Notes: